

Advocacy Project

“Language and culture in communication ”

- Communication involves using language to exchange meaning. To exchange meaning it is necessary to understand the cultural context in which language is used.
- A knowledge of and engagement with systems of culture are fundamental to being able to communicate successfully and provide a basis for the ways in which speakers of a language establish shared meanings and communicate shared concepts and ways of seeing the world.